Agitating Agitators
Good News—2 Pieces
Singing While Bathing
Eternal Foolishness

"Don't irritate the agitator," says Mr. Langworthy, President Harding's able attorney general. Mr. Langworthy, before May Day, had before him an opportunity that he tempted others. He might have wanted the world against "dangerous Reds" on May Day. He might have told of his wonderful preparation with ten millions of money. Instead, Mr. Langworthy said nothing at all, and May Day is "Red" demonstrations amounted to nothing.

Creed H. K. Curtis, always young, ambitious and moving, announced a Saturday Evening Post circulation of two million, two hundred thousand. People thought it circulated two millions, so they got two hundred thousand more circulation than they thought. That's good news for agitators. Here's more good news for men that must effective advertising. The American Sunday Magazine, published with the Boston Sunday newspapers, carrying the latest pieces of crime advertising in the United States, circulated more than THREE MILLION COPIES each Sunday, which is a MILLION more than they were making a lot of the same size. They will sell FOUR MILLIONS within a year. Write it on your banners.

A man talking isn't near you when you know up the bathroom door. In the first place, the water is running, and in the second place, he is looking at the top of the ladies' bathing suit. "Why do we sing while bathing?"

A poor "President" (female) answers, "It's a bad mistake."

It is not.

Human nature naturally says that you will do better or worse because you are from the water, and you are happy when they get back in it. They want to be in the water. The men were not in and had had animals. They had wanted to get off the water. But they at last agreed to get back in the water. They were very happy. The men had to be in the water. It was a great success. It was a great success.

Japan is spending half her total income preparing for war. Why, do you suppose?

With all her affection and admiration for Russia, during the Pacific war, it was for this country to be found on the other side. It was had enough. In a war we didn't start, and we didn't stop. How would it feel to be engaged in a war aimed at the side of the world?

In the fashion news you study the nature of women, and you study the development of the skirt. The skirt is a great piece of the world and nothing is so simple as the skirt. It is a great piece of the world and nothing is so simple as the skirt. It is a great piece of the world and nothing is so simple as the skirt.

Small-minded people, however, credit the dress with a great credit back from the forehead, extending her eyes. And poor, foolish women are wondering how they can get rid of their "per-sonal" style, and also have enough hair, with ears showing.

If it is fashionable to go with out stockings, to have in that, for the lady, and therefore, to wear all kinds of the skirt, to wear all kinds of the skirt, to wear all kinds of the skirt, to wear all kinds of the skirt.

One Princess was "stuck for gold" and the actress was "stuck for gold thread." Something remarkable and well worth while will come out of all this nonsense eventually, you may be sure, so be patient.

Mr. Kennedy, of the Knights of Columbus, sends information that will please soldiers. The knights found themselves with ten million dollars, collected from friends in war, and yet poor.

The five millions will be devoted to hospital and educational uses for wounded soldiers.

French exchange went up yesterday, getting ten points over night. Money men think that France will make with Germany the right kind of a settlement.

The French won the war, ninety per cent of it, at least. However, knows this ought to get others per cent of the indemnity and they would if they got the amount due them.

You have seen a chick come out of its shell, peep pathetically, gradually gather strength and begin walking over the other eggs. The stock market came out of its shell yesterday and peeped a little. There is "another" theme, there is automobile excitement. Another "automobile" murder, or "automobile" murder, as the cynics call it, is promised. Soon, undoubtedly, a lot of little speculation schemes will hatch.

Don't invest in them any money that you may need later.

"HOME BREW" TO BE SEEN AT PLYMOUTH THEATRE

The success of the Filene Co-operative Association show, "Home News," last week was so remarkable and there were so many patrons who were unable to obtain tickets that it has been decided to give two repetitions at the Plymouth Theatre next Friday and Saturday evenings, May 4 and 5. This is indeed a triumph for the organization and more especially for the members of the company that presented the musical comedy, "Home News," was really a sensation, arising from the fact that all who attended its presentation were amateurs and employees of the Filene show.

"I shall deem it a privilege to recommend the HERALD AND EXAMINER to any manufacturer seeking distribution in Chicago"— so says one of the executives of an advertising agency which recently had occasion to use the Herald and Examiner in securing distribution in the Chicago market.

One incident of this campaign is of interest to other manufacturers—that of the druggist who had not stocked the new product. On Sunday, March 27th, the first advertisement appeared—a page in the Herald and Examiner. On the Monday and Tuesday following, this retail druggist had sixty calls for the product. Needless to say, he made haste to place his order.

Dealer Distribution—Consumer Demand

This campaign is but one of the many successfully merchandised by the Chicago Herald and Examiner. It indicates clearly the position occupied by the Herald and Examiner—its influence with the dealers, as evidenced by the distribution secured; its tremendous "pulling" power, as evidenced by the 60 calls received by one dealer after the introductory advertisement had appeared. Multiply this one dealer by hundreds and you will have a fair idea of the consumer demand awakened ALMOST OVERNIGHT.

Perhaps the Chicago Herald and Examiner can serve you as effectively as it has served so many other manufacturers. Write for an exposition of its Merchandising Plan. It obligates you in no way. Address the Merchandising Department.

Mr. E. W. Wieland,
Manager National Livestock,
Chicago Herald and Examiner,
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Mr. Wieland:

Now that our campaign in Chicago is rapidly drawing to a close, I deem it no more than right that I should express myself in acknowledgment of the wonderful service your organization performed for me.

Just two weeks ago today, when I stepped into your office, met a store in the City of Chicago carried forward in their corner. That, with the help of your organization I was able to secure distribution in Chicago drug stores in two weeks time, is a truly remarkable achievement.

I want to thank your organization for the splendid work in recruiting and directing a sales force for me, and for securing warehouse space and jobber cooperation. Also, my appreciation you on the accuracy of your price lists and on the strong position the LEONARD AND EXAMINER enjoys with both wholesalers and retail dealers.

I shall deem it a privilege to recommend the LEONARD AND EXAMINER to any manufacturer seeking distribution in Chicago economically and efficiently.

Very truly yours,
THE A. J. SWEND CO.
